This month seems to be deader than usual, for Austin, with films being vehicles for inane actors or inane plots, or worse, neither. Those in a critical mood could watch the one-column heads in the decision-makers' paper. So. YOU ONLY LIVE TWICE—at the Austin for a week or so, sort of a non-Bond sleeper with some excellent sequences. COMEDIANS—another Burton/Taylor, and the reviews are contradictory as hell, so you'll have to exercise your own judgment, poor people. It will follow Jungle Book at the Cinema, if and when it leaves. DEVI—excellent Indian film by Satyajit Ray, at Batts Aud the 11th, Thursday, at various times. 25¢.
